

To Whom It May Concern:

microMEDIA's document imaging services and document scanning services include indexing and online document hosting. We integrate existing databases with files kept in paper, microfilm, microfiche and aperture cards.

We decided to implement telemarketing services in order to secure leads in the education market. Results Telemarketing took the time to really understand our goals and provided us with a proposal for a pilot project.

When the project started, their team created a script and additional marketing materials for us to approve before the calls began. We were impressed with the daily reports and the quality of the leads generated.

The communication between Results Telemarketing and our company was exceptional and we are very happy with their level of professionalism and attention to our needs.

We are continuing the use of their telemarketing services and would highly recommend them to other organizations.
